SUBMIT TO ENDNOTES!

Are you interested in publishing in a peer-reviewed scholarly journal, but don't know where to get started?

The Endnotes committee invites you to consider submitting to Endnotes: The Journal of the New Members Round Table!

Part of our mission is to provide first-time contributors with experience of the peer-review process.

Topics might include:

- Graduate students research and projects
- Early career research and projects
- Training and mentoring
- Job searching or hiring
- Developing leadership and management skills
- Library instruction and assessment
- Developing new collections or services
- Working with specific community groups
- Committee work and development - at your library or university, regionally or nationally
- Reviews of new books or other educational materials such as websites

Complete submission guidelines are here and the submission form can be found at this link.

ENDNOTES JOURNAL CALL FOR PROPOSALS

New Members Round Table

SUBMIT AN ABSTRACT OR FULL ARTICLE

INTENDED AUTHORS AND AUDIENCE

This journal publishes content intended for all librarians and library students and is written by early career librarians and library students

THE JOURNAL

Endnotes: The Journal of the New Members Round Table is a peer-reviewed, scholarly journal that addresses research and issues of early career librarians and grad students. Endnotes accepts research and practical articles.

"BUT I HAVEN'T HAD ENOUGH TIME TO RESEARCH SOMETHING YET"

If you're a student, look back on your previous or current coursework. If you're in the first years of being a librarian, look back at your projects, programs, committees, research, teaching, organization, etc.

YOU HAVE SOMETHING YOU CAN PUBLISH ON

PUBLISHING

Each peer-reviewed edition of the journal will contain 2-4 scholarly articles written by members of NMRT as well as web site reviews and scholarly book reviews of titles relevant to librarians.

BASIC SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

Articles should range from 2,000 - 4,000 words. Endnotes publishes research papers, technical papers, conceptual papers, case studies, and literature reviews.
